

2011 FESTIVAL GUIDE ACPinfo.org

Welcome to the Atlanta Celebrates Photography Festival 2011, our 13th year of celebrating photography across the Metro-Atlanta area!

During the ACP festival, Atlanta will be transformed by photography. Hundreds of venues, from your favorite museum to your local coffee-shop, will be infused with the creative efforts of local photographers to internationally-known artists; you might even see snapshots from your Atlanta friends and neighbors! From inspiration to education, ACP 2011 delivers the best in photography, from enlightening exhibitions at participating galleries, to provocative public art installations on the streets of Atlanta.

To get the most out of the Festival, grab a highlighter and spend a few minutes discovering your favorites in the Festival Guide. Highlight events that look interesting to you, then indicate your favorites on the calendar at the front of the guide (there is also an index of artists and venues to assist your search for a particular event). Then you'll have an easy schedule that can guide your month-long photography experience!

With so much to choose from, we know it can be a bit overwhelming! There are far too many events and exhibitions for one person to attend, so don't get discouraged. There's something for everyone; try starting with ACP's featured events (pgs 14 - 21) and join us as we explore where photography meets contemporary art and culture. We look forward to seeing you in the coming weeks, and again, we'd love to hear about your Festival experience. Let us know, by sending an email to: info@acpinfo.org

A message from ACP

At last, here we are on the brink of another memorable ACP Festival! We continue to be amazed by the enthusiasm, generosity and creativity of our supporters; a community that with each passing year represents a wide cross-section of photography-lovers, from age 8, to 80!

We're grateful to you, for your curiosity and interest, to our Board and Advisors for their direction, to our volunteers for their patience and flexibility, to our participants for their creativity and inspiration, and to our audience, for their willingness to be amazed. You all comprise the cultural fabric that sustains not just ACP, but Atlanta as a cultural center, and we thank you all! We are also thrilled for the continued sponsorship of Bank of America. Everywhere you look, Bank of America is working hard to support Atlanta's cultural institutions. They believe in making Atlanta a better place through the arts. We are, of course, aligned with that belief and are honored to continue our relationship with them.

Have a fantastic Festival!

Executive Director

We're proud to support the voices of

When community members speak about supporting the arts, we respond to their call for making the possible actual. Valuing artistic diversity within our neighborhoods helps to unite communities, creating shared experiences and inspiring excellence.

Bank of America is proud to sponsor Atlanta Celebrates Photography for their leadership in creating a successful forum for artistic expression.

It's undeniable: photography is more popular than ever.

Photographs are more than mere expressions of artistic intent, documents of important world events, or cherished, family keepsakes. They are now the means by which we share, communicate, discover, and interact. While it's unassailable that photography is more important than ever, its value seems to be in question...

While the systems through which we create and experience images are changing, the primacy of the photograph remains. Yet, it's estimated that of the images made with digital cameras, only 15% are ever printed. And how many of those are viewed in a traditional gallery setting?

All this upheaval makes for an exciting time!

If it all sounds a bit existential, it is (if a tree falls in the forest and no one's there to photograph it, is it still a tree?) yet the main question remains; how can we continue to meaningfully interact with images, whether they're presented in a familiar, traditional way, or not?

The territory surrounding these questions is teeming with image-makers who explode yesterday's notions of presentation, artistic intent, and the perceived value of photography.

While we wait for the dust to settle, it's also clear that today's photography is a lot like the Wild West; the Sheriff fled town, rations are low, and there's a heckuva dust-storm blazing toward us on the horizon.

We hope that, over the course of the Festival, you experience something that gives you the sense of order you're looking for, or a taste of the chaos you crave. ACP is for you; to deliver exactly what you expect, or what you never thought you'd find.

As you explore the many events and exhibitions presented during the ACP 2011, keep the state of the photographic union in mind... ACP-featured guest Zoe Strauss made a name for herself hanging photographs under a freeway and selling them for $5, while Martin Schoeller creates the polished look of multi-million dollar ad campaigns. The Impossible Project is saving us from living in a world without instant-film and Monica Cook creates stop-motion animations that look like nightly broadcasts from the TV station run by your brain's neurotransmitters. In light of our changing photographic world, we can examine the work of modern masters such as ACP-featured speaker Emmet Gowin and recognize their enduring relevance.

It truly is an exciting time to experience photography, to push the boundaries and to celebrate the pioneers!

Emmet Gowin

Artist Lecture:

Thu, Sep 29, 7pm - 8:30pm

HIGH MUSEUM OF ART - HILL AUDITORIUM

Emmet Gowin studied under Harry Callahan at RISD in the late 1960's. He first gained attention with his intimate portraits of his wife, Edith and family.

Beginning with a trip to Washington State soon after Mt. Saint Helens erupted, Gowin began taking aerial photographs. For the next twenty years, Gowin captured strip-mining sites, nuclear testing fields, large-scale agricultural fields, and other scars in the natural landscape.

Gowin received a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1974, National Endowment for the Arts Fellowships in 1977 and 1979, a Pew Fellowship in the Arts in 1993, and the President's award for Distinguished Teaching in 1997. He retired from the visual arts department at Princeton in 2010. Gowin's work can be found in museums and private collections worldwide as well as in six monographs on his work published over the course of 30 years.

Presented in partnership with the High Museum of Art. This program is free, however seating is limited and must be reserved through the Woodruff Arts Center Box Office at 404-733-5000. Limit 2 tickets per person. Tickets to the Museum are sold separately.

ACP PUBLIC ART

“VOLLEY” BY MONICA COOK

FLUX 2011

Featuring Work By:

Monica Cook

Public Art:

Fri, Sep 30, 8pm - 12am

The Public Art Project for ACP 2011 will be a sound activated, interactive animation (stop motion/claymation) by Monica Cook. Cook's first stop-motion animation video Deuce was selected by the Guggenheim Museum as one of 25 works featured in the “YouTube Play - A Biennial of Creative Video”. The global online initiative was a joint venture of the Guggenheim and YouTube, in collaboration with HP, aiming “to discover and showcase the most exceptional talent working in the ever-expanding realm of online video.” Cook's work was selected from more than 23,000 videos submitted.

Her work Volley commissioned by ACP and co-sponsored by Flux Projects, will explore human-animal interface: Interspecies communication; animals as totems and deities in early human cultures, etc.

Cook's animation will be activated by the sound of the audience's applause. In order for the animation to play, clapping must continue, once it ceases the visuals stop. The participation with the audience is key; they must give in order to receive, yet, if something appears slightly questionable to be applauding they must decide to continue to applause or yield, knowing they could be equally judged if their interest overrides their ideology.

Additional opportunities to see ACP 2011 Public Art:

ACP KNOWLEDGE SERIES

TO BE PUBLISHED OR SELF PUBLISH?

PORTFOLIO CENTER

Featuring:

Mary Virginia Swanson,
William Boling, Laura Noel

Lecture & Book Signing:

Wed, Oct 5, 6:30pm - 8pm

Mary Virginia Swanson will be presenting "To be Published, or Self-published?", with special guests Laura Noel, and Bill Boling.

The print-on-demand revolution has opened up new publishing possibilities for photographers; it has never been easier or more affordable to produce and market a book of your photographs. The traditional publishing path has the advantage of a highly specialized team that brings experience with design, production, marketing and distribution systems to the table. In a self-publishing scenario you can create exactly the book you envision, but without the input and expertise of seasoned professionals at a publishing house. Which scenario is best for you?

In this illustrated presentation, Mary Virginia Swanson will discuss both avenues to publishing and help participants determine the pros/cons of each, sharing resources from her recent title with coauthor Darius Himes, Publish Your Photography Book (Princeton Architectural Press, Spring 2011).

Special guest photographer Laura Noel and publisher Bill Boling of Fall Line Press will discuss their journey together in publishing "Free Fall". Time will be allocated for Q&A with Swanson, Noel and Boling following their presentations.

This event is free and open to the public.

ACP FILM SERIES

THE GOAT FARM ARTS CENTER

Featuring Work By:

Various Artists

Film Screening:

Fri, Oct 21, 7pm - 9pm

From mobile-phones to HD-SLRs, lenses are capturing moving images at an unprecedented rate. Cameras dedicated to taking still images are now doubling as hybrid machines capable of high-resolution video. Following an open call for submissions, Andy Ditzler of Frequent Small Meals, Blake Williams of Proper Medium, and ACP have selected a unique, inspiring, provocative evening screening of videos shot with still cameras.

These videos uncover the “edge of motion”, where the traditional shutter-click is now capable of creating something far beyond a single frame. In addition to the open call, the curators will be selecting some of the finest examples of the genre from around-the-globe. Traditionally viewed within the confines of a computer screen, the evening will present a unique chance to view these videos in a film-fest format, with a live audience at The Goat Farm Arts Center.

A cash award for “best in show” from the open call will be awarded by Guest Jurors Tom Brown, Vice President of Original Productions for Turner Classic Movies, and Michael Kochman, Creative Director, Turner Image Management.

ACP PHOTOBOOK FAIR

PIEDMONT PARK COMMUNITY CENTER

Photobook Fair:

Sat, Oct 22, 9am - 1pm

Featuring Work By:

Various Artists

ACP is one of the first organizations to hold a photo book fair featuring self-published photo books. Our third Photobook Fair will be bigger and better than ever. This event offers photographers an opportunity to show (and sell) their self-published books, and offers the public an opportunity to see (and purchase) these rare, limited-edition objects.

Photography Books are more popular than ever - and the fastest growing segment of photography books are those that are self published. With an ever growing selection of ways to publish your own book, photographers are now able to realize projects that are meant to be seen in sequence, or that translate best in book form. The only downside is that there aren't many avenues for getting your books seen outside of your circle of friends.

Do not miss this rare opportunity to see these extremely limited edition works of art!

ACP COLLABORATION

TIMOTHY ARCHIBALD

EMORY UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

Artist Lecture:

Fri, Oct 28, 7pm - 9pm

ECHOLILIA: The spectrum of childhood and the documentation of a relationship- photographs by father and son.

Timothy Archibald, celebrated San Francisco based commercial photographer, struggled to connect with his five-year old firstborn, Eli—the tension in their home was palpable—until Timothy started looking at his son through his camera. Together, the two orchestrated a portrait series that depicts dreamy, intimate images not only of Eli but of childhood itself, riddled as it is with mystery and fantasy. In doing so, Archibald documents the burgeoning of a newly charted relationship with his son. Through their creative collaboration, empowerment came to both Timothy and Eli. Timothy found a way to dial-in to Eli's different channel, thereby breaching the previously insurmountable obstacle posed by his son's autistic proclivities. And Eli found a powerful mirror both of his robust, imaginative childhood and his renewed bond with his dad.

In this program, Timothy and Eli will present ECHOLILIA (this series of portraits) at Emory University School of Medicine, where the photographs will be exhibited through November.

Timothy Archibald

Artist Lecture:

Fri, Oct. 28, 7-9pm

ECHOLILIA: The spectrum of childhood and the documentation of a relationship—photographs by father and son.

Timothy Archibald, celebrated San Francisco based commercial photographer, struggled to connect with his five-year old firstborn, Eli—the tension in their home was palpable—until Timothy started looking at his son through his camera. Together, the two orchestrated a portrait series that depicts dreamy, intimate images not only of Eli, but of childhood itself, riddled as it is with mystery and fantasy.

SHOWCASE
EVERYTHING PHOTOGRAPHIC

ACP IS VERY PROUD TO ANNOUNCE OUR NEW PARTNERSHIP WITH YOUNG AUDIENCES WOODRUFF ARTS CENTER.

Through this partnership, a photography program will be piloted in several middle schools this fall:

Media Literacy; Story Through Photos

A six-week course that teaches students how to read imagery and communicate stories with photos, culminating in a personal narrative photo essay.

Through this program, students will have the opportunity to learn how to operate a digital camera as well as the basic concepts of light and composition. Ultimately, these budding photographers will explore how to translate ideas that are personally meaningful into images that communicate those ideas effectively.

ACP would like to express our gratitude to Young Audiences and to instructor T. Lynne Pixley for helping us realize this long-held goal of reaching out to students.

ACP would also like to thank Showcase Photo & Video for sponsoring the cameras that will be the tools to unleash creativity and storytelling skills in these youngsters.

Come See How Atlanta Celebrates Photography!

Our Mission:

Atlanta Celebrates Photography supports Atlanta's emergence as an international center for photography. Through an annual October festival and year-round programs, ACP seeks to nurture and support photographers, educate and engage audiences, promote diverse photography venues and enrich Atlanta's cultural scene.

Welcome to Atlanta Celebrates Photography's thirteenth annual, month long, city-wide festival! Experience the power of images as we transform Atlanta with photography-related events and exhibitions showcasing the work of hundreds of photographers!

The core of the festival consists of ACP lectures, films, portfolio reviews, public art projects, and other special programs, including our annual Photography Auction.

ACP is the only organization that supports multiple levels of Atlanta's photography community, from amateur hobbyist to full-time artist, and promotes them, both locally and nationally.
